This is the official record of the proceedings of Council of the Town of Wainwright at its regular meeting held on the 21st day of September, 1948, commencing at the hour of 8 o'clock P.M.

The members of Council in attendance at this meeting were Mayor Robinson and Councillors T. Buckley, Wallace and Armstrong. The second presentation of Council at its regular meeting held on September 7th, were read and, on motion of Councillor T. Buckley, adopted as written.

On motion of Councillor Wallace, that the application of Mrs. May D. Rutherford of Wainwright, to purchase Lot 31 in Block 11, Plan 9445-V, for the sum of $25.00, be approved by Council pending the passing of the necessary by-law.

An application received from the Wainwright Municipal Hospital District No. 17, to purchase Lots 16 and 19 in Block 10, Plan 880-AJ, for the sum of $40.00, was received and on motion of Councillor Wallace that this be approved pending the passing of the necessary by-law.

Death & Funeral of Mrs. F. W. Church

The death of Mrs. Rita Margaret Church, on Thursday, September 23, marked the passing of a well known and respected resident of the Wainwright district. The deceased was born in Leeds Village, Quebec, 1884. Margaret Church was the wife of Fred Church, who died in 1919, and was married to Mr. Frederick William Church and moved to their farm in the Sydenham district where they have since resided.

The deceased was an active member of Grace United Church and was an ardent worker at any project to better the community and will be greatly missed by a wide circle of friends.

The late Mrs. Church had suffered from failing health for some months and entered the Wainwright Municipal Hospital just nine weeks previous to her death as stated above.

Left to mourn her passing are: her husband, one son, Alvin, three sisters, Janet (Mrs. F. E. Dixon), Edith (Mrs. A. C. Woodward) both of Wainwright and Gladys (Mrs. B. Hodgkins) of Jasper. Also six brothers, Walter and Lewis Alexander of Battleville district, Clarence and Lynne Alexander of Wainwright, Glenn Alexander, Edmonton, and Arthur Alexander, New Westminster, B.C., as well as a number of nieces and nephews.

The funeral was held on Monday, September 27th, from Grace United Church with Rev. M. Dobson officiating. Favorite hymns of the deceased "Rock of Ages" and "Abide With Me" were sung during the service. Pallbearers for the deceased were her five brothers: Messrs. Walter, Lewis, Clarence, Glenn and Lynne Alexander and one brother-in-law Mr. Clifford Church. Interment was made in the Wainwright cemetery with McLeod's Funeral Parlors in charge.

Floral tributes of love and esteem were received from the following: Husband and Son; Walter, Jessie and Family; Alvin, Frank, Janet and Family; Alf, Edith and Family; Lynne, Jessie and Family; Clarence, Marjorie and Family; Benjie, Gladys and Family; Glenn, Ruth and Family; Lewis, Winnie and Family; Clifford, Edith and Stanley; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Wells (Donation After Protestant Home); Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Driver and Family; Vera; Lola; Mr. and Mrs. S. Woodward; Mr. and Mrs. W. Woodward; Mr. and Mrs. A. Mudge; The Sheridan Family; Ernest and Edith; Mr. and Mrs. J. Nicholson and Family; Austin and Mabel Kinghorn; The Ritzway continued page 5

Local Nimrods Out After Game

On Saturday morning last, September 26th, the hunting season officially opened in this district, and from reports heard many of the local hunters went out bright and early on that day. One hunter reported to the Star that Wainwright looked like daylight about 5:00 a.m. that morning as almost every house seemed to have lights burning. The traffic on main streets at the same time was heavy and everybody was making their way to obtain breakfast.

Some reports have been heard on the luck of those doing the hunting. While no hunter reports returning with less than one duck, the bag ran all the way from one to the limit of eight. One hunter reports that he and his son spent all Saturday afternoon and only obtained one feathery specimen.

Some game have been obtained, but these are not as easy to obtain as the ducks. Hunting has been good but the cold weather of early morning has deterred some hunters efforts.

Shotguns must be plugged this year if they are of the repeater type. A maximum of two shells can be carried in the gun according to new legislation handed down this year. In any case this is good for both hunter and game, for at this year's price of ammunition every time the gun goes bang, away goes 10c out the barrel.

Farewell Dinner Planned for Spencers

Arrangements are now being made to tender a banquet in honor of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Spencer who will be leaving the district shortly. This banquet is for recognition of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer's service to this community as well as the service that they have given to the Province.

The tentative date for the dinner has been set as October 15th, but further plans are still in the making. It is expected that representatives will be on hand at the dinner from each of the organizations that both Mr. and Mrs. Spencer have played a part in. Also the dinner will be open to the general public.

SEA CADET NOTES

R.C.S.C. Exeter held a dance on Friday night which was well attended. The boys wish to express their thanks for the support. It turned out a good dance.

Sunday afternoon Wally Rattray took the boys out to Clear Lake in the new bus. A good afternoon was had, with a big bonfire and water cast, with games afterwards. The Cadet boats were taken out of the water for the season. Leading Seaman Pilgrim and Hill with Able Seaman Elgetti had trouble with the duty boat which decided it wanted to move along on the bottom of the lake.

The parade nights are going strong with new recruits coming in. Mr. James Humphries is taking over Lt. Lane's position as Paymaster.

The hobby nights are doing fine. Several of the boys have started ship models that can be used in demonstrations.

Anybody with a bugle they don't want or drum sticks will be thanked if they donate same to the Cadets. See any of the officers.

Three Gates of Gold

If you are tempted to reveal a secret, you are tempted to reveal a secret. About another, make it plain. Before you speak, three gates of gold. These narrow gates—first, "Is it true?" Then, "Is it useful?" in your mind. Give thoughtful answer, and the next is last and narrowest, "Is it kind?" And if to reach your lips at last. It passes through these gateways three. Then you may tell the tale, no fear. What the result of speech may be. —Author Unknown

Volunteer Crew Busy Tearing Down Park Buildings

Word was received from the War Assets Corporation in Ottawa that the P.M.C. bid for $1700 for the seven buildings at the former Buffalo Park had been accepted. This was gratifying news to the members of the P.M.C. for this meant that their main supply headache was overcome.

A start was made on Sunday, September 26, on dismantling two of the buildings on that site. A volunteer crew of approximately 35 men and women were on hand complete with wrecking bars, saws, hammers, etc. The material that can be salvaged from these buildings is of the best grade and is dry. Most of the wood is fir, there being little spruce used in their construction.

People who were asked to participate in this dismantling process on Sunday, and for some reason or other could not attend, missed a very enjoyable time. It is doubtful whether any of those there had worked so hard during the past month, but satisfaction was theirs, when they witnessed the truckload of material that was hauled to town at the close of the day.

During the afternoon the ladies of the New Canadian Club tendered a dinner to the workers consisting of Irish stew, pickles, tomatoes, huns, pie and coffee. This hit the spot, as reports heard after indicated.

It is planned to hold these dismantling bays every Wednesday and Sunday for the next few weeks. If anyone wishes to volunteer for these affairs they can get in touch with John Mitchell or P. M. Armstrong. Transportation will be provided for those who have no cars.

At the present time nail pullers and board planes are urgently needed at each bay. Both these positions many ladies could fill, and the Star feels certain that the ladies of the town and district would obtain a certain amount of enjoyment from attending one of these get-togethers.

"The same speech as last year," said Premier Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium.

Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France noted, however, that the Russian did not touch the German crisis—each may yet prove the gravest issue to face the U.N.

Britain announced plans last week to build up its armed reserves to face "any international emergency." Defence Minister Alexander, whose job is to co-ordinate the activities of the three services, said Britain's rearmament program was moving so swiftly in both men and material that the government had not been able to count the cost.

The veteran labor minister's review was lacking in detailed figures which brought criticism from Anthony Eden, deputy Conservative leader.

Eden said the government is carrying "this matter of security far beyond any necessary point" and the most constructive contribution to peace is close collaboration with the other Commonwealth countries and with western Europe.

Alexander said the question of defence of Commonwealth countries will be considered at the October Commonwealth conference where Canada will be represented by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

The defence program announced by Alexander provided for an increase of not less than 100,000 men and women for the Territorials, Britain's equivalent of Canada's reserve army; 60,000 extra men for the Royal Volunteer Reserve; and an additional 7,500 ratings for the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve.

In addition to the increased reserve strength new types of armament will be provided for all services and thousands will be trained in civil defence duties.

Commonwealth defence will be discussed in detail at the Commonwealth conference, Canada will probably receive the greatest Commonwealth responsibility for North American defence.

Australia has already taken the responsibility of keeping up bases in the Pacific and the speech from the throne visited Australia and the Commonwealth's "main support area in the Pacific."

The British-United States air lift to Berlin was still dropping on Saturday.

Begin Construction On P.M.C.; Cement Work Under Way

Last week saw the dream of many begin to materialize as a three year wait became a reality. The Peace Memorial Centre of which the arena is the first unit was started on the site chosen by the executive at their meeting in the early spring.

The building site was staked out some time ago by the architect and his consulting engineers. The arena will be the most modern building of its type when completed. Mr. Patrick Campbell-Hope the architect, stated that to his knowledge there was nothing like it to be found in Alberta. The cement work, which includes the abutments and foundations, were started last week with Mr. E. X. Terry in charge. There will be 11 abutments to each side of the building, these when completed will support the roof trusses which will be made of steel. Each abutment is in the neighborhood of 11 feet long, and 18 inches wide with the approximate height of same 6 feet.

To conserve cement a call was made for field stones, and no sooner had the call been made than there was ample stone on the location. Much credit is due Mr. Jack Perkins for his work in securing a volunteer crew to transport the stone to Wainwright. A suitable stone pile was located on the farm of G. Gould, 4 miles north of Wainwright. These rocks were neatly piled on the land, and Mr. Gould stated that the P.M.C. were welcome to have the stones. On Friday morning of last week, Mr. Perkins was approached and in short order had a crew working which resulted in ample stones being placed on the P.M.C. site. Using the hydraulic loader on Mr. Perkins' tractor the task was relatively simple. This loader loaded the trucks with ease, and from there they were transported to town. Trucks were supplied on a volunteer basis by Messrs. J. Veitch, Reynolds Garage, T. Rattray, D. Rattray, R. Campbell and Zander Bros.

At the time of writing, the concrete was poured for two abutments and it is expected that within the next few days a start can be made on the roof trusses.

The P.M.C. Committee expressed their thanks to the Star on the marvelous way the citizens of the town and district have joined in helping the project along. President Mitchell reported that if the help received during the past few weeks, is any indication of that to come, the P.M.C. will be a reality in a short time.

Mr. & Mrs. H. Spencer Mr. & Mrs. Sanders Honored at Party

The Wainwright Hotel was the scene of a pleasant gathering on Friday evening, September 24th, when the members of the office staff and the Divisional Board were entertained by Mr. W. Lawson at a dinner party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer and Mr. and Mrs. Sanders. Mr. O. Griffiths, Mayor of Wainwright, presided at the banquet. The guests were seated at round tables, and all spoke of their pleasant associations with the two retiring members, regretted sincerely their decision to leave Alberta and wished them every happiness in their new homes. Mr. Simpson then presented them each with a parting gift on behalf of the School Divisional Board and office staff. After the two gentlemen had expressed their thanks, all joined in drinking the health of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer and Mr. and Mrs. Sanders and wishing them many more years of happiness. The party then broke up with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

The Sew & So Club

The Sew and So Club met for their September meeting at the home of Mrs. Barrett. The meeting opened with "It isn't any trouble just to smile" after which thirteen members answered the roll with "Characteristics of a Good Husband."

Several members described the opening of the new hospital. Anyone wishing to send old woollen are asked to bring them to the November meeting or leave at Mrs. Joy King's who has kindly offered to send the shipment. An invitation to become an initiate was discussed, it was decided to remain "The Club". The program for the next six months was arranged.

Plans were made for the Chicken Supper and Dance at Roseneberg School with October 22 as the date if music is available. Miss E. and Mrs. F. Bacon are committee with Mrs. F. Tindall, C. Taylor and E. Willerton to look after the dance. All members are asked to bring their aprons to the October meeting.

Greetings were extended to Mrs. F. Bacon on her birthday. Mrs. Mildred Oldham had the raffle which was won by Mrs. E. Johnson.

The meeting closed by singing "Just As I Am" after which our hostess, Mrs. Barrett, served a very appetizing lunch.

Will members please note the next meeting will be held on October 14 at the home of Mrs. E. Tindall.

The war, particularly the naval engagements, coined the phrase "near miss." But there's many a young fellow who boasts he "made a hit with a miss."

"First Baby" Receives Many Gifts

Picture above is Master Douglas Miles Johnston of Ribstone, together with his mother, Mrs. Johnston. Douglas had the honour of being the first baby born in the new hospital addition, thus was the recipient of the many gifts donated by the merchants of Wainwright in the Board of Trades record "First Baby" Contest. Unfortunately the cut arrived back from the engravers too late for last week's paper.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Fire prevention week has been proclaimed from October 3rd to 9th, and while this is only one week of the year it should be a habit to make every week of the 52 as safe from fires as it is possible. Fire is regarded as the "Fifth Horseman" being ever with us. In its controlled state fire is a very valuable property. Without it the world would come to an end. But in its uncontrolled state, used in a conflagration sense, it becomes a savage enemy, leaving destruction in its wake.

Wainwright and its immediate district has been relatively free of any serious fire for the past few years. True there have been one or two blazes that have caused damage, but fortunately we can recall only one where a life was lost. This while being tragic, we consider being fairly free of the fire menace.

It would pay dividends to all readers of this editorial to place the paper down and take a check around the home or farm and see that everything is in tip-top shape before winter sets in. Such points as outlined below should be thoroughly checked and any more that you should happen to run into in your travels.

1. Are your stove pipes and chimneys clean and in good repair?
2. Is there rubbish such as old papers, broken furniture, in your attic or basement?
3. Is there inflammable rubbish in your yard or around your burning barrel?
4. Are your floors under stoves protected by metal?
5. Are your walls, ceiling and partitions protected from overheating of stoves?
6. Are your matches kept away from heat and out of the reach of children?
7. Is your wiring safe—are there wires looped over joists, hanging, or frayed insulation?
8. Are inflammable liquids safely stored—such as gasoline and coal oil?
9. Do you smoke in bed—if so, sooner or later you're heading for trouble.

The above nine points if given a careful going over will add a definite measure of safety to your premises. It would be worth your while to right any of the wrongs that exist around your home now. Winter is fast approaching and once set in makes repairing difficult.

We have obtained some facts on fires and its damage listed by the National Fire Prevention Association as they pertain to the United States. Did you know that every day in the United States there are 1690 fires. These fires kill 22 persons, destroy 72 homes, 155 stores. Every day there are 88 factory fires, 6 church fires, 5 school fires and 2 hospital fires. These of course vary in seriousness. Each and every one does damage however, many of the fires take lives, all of them could develop into a flaming conflagration.

These fires cost a good deal of money. In 1871 when the city of Chicago caught fire the damage done amounted to $168 million. Last year the fire that followed the Texas City waterfront blast consumed an estimate of 67 million dollars.

As for the causes of fires it would tend to bear out that smoking and matches play the largest role. In the United States there are over 600 thousand fires every year, and smoking and matches start approximately 106 thousand. Other factors are listed. Misuse of electrical equipment and faulty wiring cause 70 thousand, defective heating equipment 45,500, defective chimneys 31,000 careless handling of inflammable liquids 25,000, children playing with matches 22,500, and so on down the line.

It boils down to the fact that it doesn't pay to take chances with fire. In the U.S. the average is worked out—one person will burn to death every 65 minutes—and a dwelling fire will occur every two.

Observe Fire Prevention Week and you may save your house, buildings and even your life.

NIMRODS BE CAREFUL

Every year as the hunting season gets underway we read of tragic and violent deaths caused by guns and carelessness. This year will be no exception. With the high cost of food an even greater number of hunters than usual are expected to try their hand at procuring wild game for the family larder. Aside from the mathematical odds, a larger percentage will use firearms for the first time—where they lie the source of accidents.

However, newcomers alone are not responsible for all the shooting mishaps. Experienced veterans of many a hunt have been, and may still be guilty of a moment's carelessness that might mean death or terrible injury.

Not that we are hunters, but like most everyone we have read and re-read the rules of safe hunting. They are few and simple and yet some hunters will ignore them, or only half practise them. These are the dangerous people who endanger your life. Be careful of the company you choose to go hunting with. If a man is known to be a careless individual drop him like a "hot potato"—after all he is more likely to shoot you than himself.

Practise safety at all times, it will mean fewer accidents.

THE WEEK AT OTTAWA

by the Canadian Press

The government is faced with a demand for four-pronged action to stem a threatened "mosaic" of miners from the gold-mining area of Canada.

The demand came last week from the Canadian Mine Workers' Union, a 3,200-man organization, which has branches in several Ontario gold-fields.

Mines Minister MacKinnon, who met representatives of the union, assured them the government will take up the matter and give it urgent consideration.

Briefly, the mine workers ask:

1. A review of taxation as it affects the gold-mining industry.
2. Examination of the effects of fixed gold prices on both miners and companies.
3. Special income tax allowances for miners on unemployment insurance.

Union spokesmen say that gold miners get little benefit from the insurance and that coverage should be made optional.

4. Some "consideration" for miners on unemployment insurance. Union spokesmen say that gold miners get little benefit from the insurance and that coverage should be made optional.

The effect of a fixed price for gold, say the miners, added to increasing costs for other products could have the result of creating "greater hardship for the miner and heavier burdens for the industry."

They ask relief from income tax on the grounds that gold miners must pay more for their working equipment. These costs still are mounting.

Generally, say union representatives, the situation in the gold-mining industry is "urgent" and "requires early action to avoid an exodus of miners from the gold-mining area."

No Butter Shortage
Trade Minister Howe last week moved to stamp out a butter shortage which appeared a certainty for Canada this winter. His action met with complete approval from the National Dairy Council.

The Dairy Council, which represents some 600 to 800 dealers in Canada, offered its congratulations when Mr. Howe said that agreements have been completed to bring in some 9,000,000 pounds of butter from New Zealand and Denmark.

In addition to these contracts, Mr. Howe said further imports will be made from a third unidentified country. Altogether these imports will be sufficient to meet the shortage estimated to be not less than 15,000,000 pounds and not more than 20,000,000 pounds.

Butter production showed signs of weakening early in August. The National Dairy Council appeared before the cabinet and called on the government to announce quickly what action they plan to take to meet the shortage threat.

Suggestions were made that butter be imported or existing supplies rationed. In the event this could not be done, the Council even suggested lifting the 60-year-old oleomargarine ban—a suggestion which the Council has never before favored.

However, Mr. Howe's agreement with foreign countries does not affect the margarine issue. The ban comes up for a legality test before the Supreme Court of Canada Oct. 5.

Meanwhile, Canada is assured of sufficient butter supplies this winter.

Predict bumper Harvest
Canadian farmers could look forward to more money for wheat in 1948. A wheat crop of 391,000,000 bushels—more than 50,000,000 bushels greater than the 1947 harvest—was forecast by the bureau of statistics last week.

It was the bureau's second estimate of what Canada's soil will yield this fall. The first estimate in August placed the wheat crop at 372,000,000 bushels, but good maturing and excellent harvest weather during the following weeks boosted the estimate.

The estimate includes 362,961,000 bushels of spring wheat, produced mainly on the three Prairie Provinces, and 28,331,000 bushels of winter wheat, which comes mostly from Ontario.

A good part of the crop will go to the United Kingdom at $2 a bushel for No. 1 Northern. About 160,000,000 bushels will go towards domestic needs, also at $2 a bushel. Some part of the crop will be allotted to South Africa and Israel, which is also anxious to obtain Canadian beef and a host of other commodities.

The big wheat crop spells prosperity not only for the farmer but for the rest of the country, too. Canada's economy, based on wheat, looks to the west to make enough money selling wheat to buy indus-

Joe Rutledge Says

WHO OWNS INDUSTRY?

Anybody might be surprised to see a dog baying at its own heels. But that is a very fair picture of much of our arguing and thinking. We want to challenge corporate enterprises. We want to take from its so-called ill-gotten gains. But, brother, the gains are your own, and the only profiteer you can reasonably challenge is yourself.

Maybe you don't believe this. It's not surprising if you don't. It's hard to believe. Especially so after such a long build up about how much everybody but the honest worker was getting out of our economy. We like the honest worker. We rather consider ourselves a worker, honest, we hope. This honesty compels us to look some facts in the face, to wit: Total corporate profits in 1946 were $1,421,000,000. These are government statistics and hardly to be doubted. That represents better than a hundred dollars for every mother's son of us. Do you remember getting yours? Maybe not, but you did, most of you.

For instance, out of that total came almost half, $670,000,000 in taxes. Where did you think all the social securities that we have been demanding came from? And who did you think paid for them? Don't get me wrong. I'm not a dream. It's a fact.

After the taxes were deducted there still remained a tidy $753,000,000. Less than half of that—$340,000,000 in all—was distributed in dividends. The remainder was retained in the business for expansion, for increased wages, for better methods and newer machines, the factors that pay your way and protect your job.

Of course you may be thinking that $340,000,000 isn't a big little plum. It isn't sixty-six million of it went to those 75,744 fortunate Canadians with an average taxable income of over $5,000—something under $900 each. The remainder directly or indirectly, went to us.

Three In The Ring
John Diefenbaker has thrown his hat into the Progressive Conservative leadership ring. He is the third candidate for the political mantle which John Bracken will throw off at the P.C.'s national convention in Ottawa—Sept. 30, Oct. 1 and 2.

Diefenbaker loves a good political battle, and though he lost out in the last try for the leadership, feels sure he can defeat Premier George Drew of Ontario, if Drew announces his intentions to enter the political fight.

In any case the 53-year-old lawyer and member of the Commons for Lake Centre, Saskatchewan, is assured of competition. Garfield Cass, 49, member of the Commons for the Ontario constituency of Grey North, and J. W. Hanna, 59, member of the Ontario Legislature for Huron Bruce, have announced they will run.

Mr. Diefenbaker announced his intention after a trip through eastern Canada. One of the starkest critics in the Commons, he said he was pleased with the support given him in his travels. He found his support in Quebec good.

"Of course I can beat him," he says of Mr. Drew. "I mean that, although I would not have said that two weeks ago." He is fully aware, he says, of the "magnitude of the task and the responsibility that will fall on the leader of this party to contribute to the national unity of Canada."

So it seems that it is really we little folk who own the business and get the profits without any turmoil of upsetting governments and redistributing wealth. Eighty per cent of all the profits outside of taxes comes to you and me already.

Disease-Free Potato Nears Final Stage

Scientists at the Dominion Experimental Station here are hopeful of reporting their greatest triumph—a disease-resistant potato expected to revolutionize potato growing as rust resistant wheat revolutionized wheat grain growing. Of world wide importance and one of the biggest horticultural developments in history, it would save farmers millions of dollars annually in the Maritime Provinces alone.

The potato is subject to many diseases. The worst is blight. Farmers who plant potatoes for their own use and lack proper facilities for spraying may lose up to 50 per cent of their crop through blight every year. Even in commercial growing areas where expensive spraying machines are used, blight loss may run to 25 per cent in a season.

The experimental station set out to beat blight in 1938. The only source of blight immunity then was the wild potato of Central America—a pea-sized tuber impervious to blight even in the steaming equatorial heat. It had no value as food but from the research standpoint its potential value was tremendous.

The station consequently imported wild potatoes from Central America. These were cultivated and crossed with established New Brunswick commercial varieties by fertilizing the plants of the blossoms of the commercial varieties with pollen from the blossoms of the wild potatoes, and vice versa.

The resulting seeds were sorted and planted. Then began the long process of selective breeding from the seedlings, or new and nameless potato varieties which grew from the seeds.

Inoculated With Blight

So far more than 160,000 seedlings have been tested. Inoculated with blight organisms, they are tried out first at the greenhouse of the experimental station. Those subsequently showing blight are discarded. The others are subjected to further tests, outdoors and indoors, not only for immunity to blight but for resistance to other diseases such as common scab, leaf roll and mosaic.

The project has attracted national and international attention. Seedlings from Fredricton are being grown experimentally on several farms in the Maritime Provinces, at agricultural colleges and experimental stations across Canada, and also in the United States, Great Britain and Australia.

Culmination of the long research will be the release of seedlings for commercial production. This is expected within the next two years, as some seedlings now available have never developed blight. The station scientists also hope the new potatoes will equal the best commercial varieties in quality and yield, as well as having immunity to late blight.

L. C. Young, with degrees in agriculture from Ontario Agricultural College and the University of Minnesota, has supervised the potato program. Another horticulturist, H. E. Davies, also an OAC graduate, devotes his full time to the work.

Valencia Oranges Getting Smaller; Growers Worried

Los Angeles—For five years, housewives have watched California oranges in their grocers' bins steadily shrink in size.

This year's crop, quantities of which aren't much larger than gold balls, is smaller than ever and growers face anew the problem of selling the midsize to a public that prefers its juice from large fruit.

The mystery of the over-abundance of small Valencias is an agricultural enigma that has perplexed citrus experts since 1944. Each year it has become worse.

In 1946, for example, an average of 264 Valencia oranges would fill a packing box. In the five years preceding the midsize era it took only 220. This year the average is 277. Nearly a fourth of this season's crop will run to such small sizes that it will take 344 or more of them to fill a box.

The Valencia orange is a summer variety and makes up about three-fifths of California's estimated production of 46,600,000 boxes and about 45 per cent of Florida's 68,000,000 boxes.

The California Valencia crop is of prime importance because it moves to market much later than the Florida crop and is the principal source of supply in mid-summer and late summer—with resulting good prices. Florida Valencias start moving to market in February and usually are gone by mid-summer.

The Valencia is not a seedless orange, but has very few seeds. The California Valencia start coming on the market about the end of April and continue to late November.

Among citrus men there are many theories but no answers to the problem of subnormal growth. Experts at the University of California's citrus experiment station have delved into the effects of insect attacks, variations in sunlight, moisture and organic and mineral nutrition.

the station, says there is no known remedy for the small-size problem at this time, but he expresses belief the general health of the tree is related to the size of the fruit.

Whatever the cause or cure, the midsize is a marketing poison to the industry. The California Fruit Growers Exchange, which markets more than three-quarters of California and Arizona oranges, is in the third year of an advertising campaign plugging small oranges.

Little oranges are hard to sell, they say, but they feel that advertising shoppers that midsize are loaded with juice and "the best buy" are effective.

Small oranges are cheaper. Large fruit that pack 150 and 176 to the box have sold for higher than $7 a box in New York this season. Valencias that pack 344 to the box have averaged less than $4 a box.

Hardest hit are growers with orchards running predominantly to smaller-sized fruit. This year most orange ranchers are doing all right. Profits have averaged about $4 cents a box after growing costs. Last year Valencias brought an average of 18 cents a box below the growing cost. Ranchers look back fondly to 1946, when they netted approximately $2.96 a box.

English Journey

ARTICLE 3

Bournemouth which was our next base for a week is one of the finest resorts in England and was very popular with Canadians during the war, especially those in the air force who spent their first days there after going overseas.

Here we were guests of relatives and friends of our daughter-in-law Mrs. Donald Legge, and here we met her mother Mrs. E. Adams and also Mrs. P. G. Potter both of whom have many friends in Grimsby.

Bournemouth is a delightful modern city of large hotels, parks, and a fine beach, although there are ancient landmarks in the vicinity, and there are daily bus trips to a large number of interesting places as well as steamer trips to the Isle of Wight.

Only about five miles away is Christchurch where there is a famous priory and the remains of a Norman castle.

A great many of the old Abbey's have interesting legends about how the location was chosen or how it was built, Christchurch priory has one of the legends which relate that it was the intention of the early builders to erect the church on a spot at St. Catherine's Hill, north of the town. Each night however, the materials were mysteriously shifted to the present site, so it was decided to abandon the first chosen spot and build it where the materials were placed. That this was in accordance with God's will was indicated because each day there was an extra workman who was never seen to partake of meals or sleep. One day the workmen made a mistake and cut a heavy beam too short for its intended purpose, but the next day it was found to have been miraculously lengthened. The builders then realized that the mysterious stranger was none other than the Carpenter of Nazareth.

A huge beam which is claimed to be that which was miraculously lengthened is still displayed in the Retro choir.

However, it is more probable that this site was occupied by a pagan temple and this has been confirmed by excavations. The Doomsday Book (1086) records that there was a church on the site at that time which was destroyed and the present structure commenced in 1098. It was made a priory in 1150 and the present building was completed within the next two hundred years. It is one of the largest and finest ecclesiastical buildings in England, filled with remarkable carvings and memorials.

At the entrance to the Priory is a card bearing the following words: Pause as thou enter, traveller, and bethink thee.

How holy, yet how homelike is this place.

Time that thou spendest humbly here shall link thee With men unknown, who once were of thy race.

This is the Father's House, to Him address thee Whom here His children worship face to face.

He, at thy coming in, with peace will bless thee.

Thy going out make joyful with His Grace.

The churchyard is noted for several quaint epitaphs, the most intriguing being one known as the "Puzzle Epitaph" which reads as follows:

We were not alyne but ray'd Ray'd not to life But to be buried twice

By men of strife What rest could living have When dead had none

Agree amongst you Here we ten are one Hen. Rogers died Apr. 17, 1641.

Among the many outstanding features of Christchurch Priory are the Choir stalls which have some of the finest carved detail in England. Some of them are obviously contemporary caricatures of such personages as Henry VIII, Catherine of Aragon, Anne Boleyn and others.

The guide pointed out some of the arm rests of special interest. One represents a fox preaching in a friar's gown from a pulpit, with a cock serving as clerk, presumably intended to ridicule the mendicant preaching friars of whom the canons were notoriously jealous. Another is a gossip, with back turned while a dog licks a caudon clean. The series of nearly 40 misericordes, or misericordiae, are also of special interest. One of them is the oldest in the country dating from about 1200 with typical carvings of that period. Others show, an angel being tempted, an emaciated dog gnawing a bone, the Devil as a sack, a contortionist, a fish and many such designs.

Close to the priory are the remains of a Norman Castle built in 901, with walls 9 ft. 8 inches thick. The brief history of the castle shows that it was built in 901. King Stephen battled here 1153, King John visited here 1201. Captured by the Roundheads 1645, and ordered demolished 1660.

There are some delightful old buildings in the town of Christchurch, one of the most picturesque being the former Court House now occupied by a agent shop.

On one day we went by bus to Salisbury which is a very picturesque town and having what is considered the most graceful cathedral in England, with the tallest spire of any in Britain 404 feet high.

Unlike most other cathedrals which were built in different periods with different styles of architecture, Salisbury was completed in one era or style. It certainly has one of the most beautiful exteriors of them all.

Salisbury cathedral is an old clock dated 1386, one of the two oldest in England, the other being at Wells.

At Salisbury we had an experience of substitutes for meat. Having lunch at a famous old inn, one of our party ordered what she expected was beef and was served whale meat. While it had the appearance of beef it had such a strong fishy taste that no one of the party could eat it, although other diners seemed to eat it with enjoyment.

There is another interesting old Abbey in the neighborhood, Beaulieu Abbey locally pronounced (Bu-leu) but unfortunately we did not have time to visit it.

One day we visited Lymington, a beautiful old town where we were given one of the best meals which we had in England. There we met some residents who had been very kind to Canadian airmen during the war.

The bus route from Bournemouth to Lymington has some very beautiful views of the white cliffs and the sea.

We left Bournemouth by coach for Bath passing through many interesting towns such as Wilton, Heytesbury, Westbury, Trowbridge and Bradford on Avon, stopping for lunch at Warminster.

Bath is a beautiful old city widely known for its medicinal springs, Georgian buildings and Roman ruins. The Roman baths are some of the most complete Roman remains in Britain and plainly show the high state of the civilization of that time.

The Abbey at Bath is very beautiful and has at times shared with Wells the distinction of being a Cathedral. It is 120 feet long and 123 feet across the transept and parts of it date from Norman times although there has always been a church on the site since 676.

One of the features of the Abbey is the West Front, the main gable being filled with a great window and flanked with large towers on the face of which are carved ladders with angels ascending and descending.

Bath is worthy of a lengthy visit, but our stay in England was too short to permit and we left Bath for Bristol.

Inheritance of Egg Production

Yearly egg production has increased from some twelve to thirty eggs by the wild fowl to as many as three hundred or more eggs by the modern domestic fowl. Average annual production for a flock now often exceeds two hundred eggs per bird. Part of this increase in production is no doubt due to improved methods of feeding and management and it has been demonstrated that egg production can also be increased by adapting proper methods of selecting and mating breeding stock.

The exact mode of inheritance of egg production is not known but geneticists agree that many genes (units of inheritance) are involved. It is known that outstanding characteristics of a good layer include earliness of sexual maturity, the production of a large number of eggs in each clutch, nonbroodiness, and ability to continue production late in the laying year. Improvement in egg production can therefore be achieved in flocks showing variability for these characteristics by selecting breeders possessing the desired qualities. In selecting for sexual maturity, however, size and constitution should be kept in mind and it is wise to avoid birds which mature too early because they are apt to be quite small and will lay very small eggs for some time after laying has commenced. Feeding and management during the brooding and rearing periods can affect this characteristic to some extent. It is generally considered that a White Leghorn pullet should commence laying at approximately one hundred and seventy to one hundred and eighty days of age, and members of the general-purpose breeds at approximately one hundred and ninety to two hundred days.

Man: "Pardon me, Miss, but has your dress slipped off or am I seeing things?"

Girl: "Both."

Little Alice was fussy about her diet. Her mother, busy in the kitchen, paid little heed when Alice objected vigorously to eating her egg for breakfast.

Alice: "But Mamma, this isn't a very nice egg!"

Mother: "Now, eggs are good for you. I don't want to hear another word."

Alice: "Mother, must I eat the feet, too?"

A sweet young girl and a handsome farm lad were walking along a country road together in the evening. The farm lad was carrying a large pail on his back, holding a chicken in one hand, a cane in the other, and leading a goat. They came to a dark lane. Said the girl: "I'm afraid to walk here with you. You might try to kiss me."

Said the farm lad: "How could I with all these things I'm carrying?" "Well, you might stick the cane in the ground, tie the goat to it, and put the chicken under the pail"

Your banker works

For You

As a depositor or borrower, you value privacy in money matters. Your banker protects that privacy. Your banking transactions are not open to the eyes and ears of your competitor, your neighbor, your community.

In other words, the manager of your branch bank and his whole staff are working for you.

Contrast this Canadian way with conditions in lands where freedom is denied—where every bank is a political tool, every banker a public official working for the State! State monopoly of banking, proposed by Socialists here, would open your banking transactions to political intrusion.

YOUR CROP OF THE FUTURE

DEVELOPING harder strains of earlier-maturing grains... overcoming the ravages of rust... waging unceasing warfare against insect pests... battling to eradicate or control weeds... there has been no respite through the past half century for the scientific agriculturist, the forward-looking farmer, or the wide-awake firm whose business is integrated with the production and marketing of grain in Western Canada.

One of the most important phases of this never-ending striving for better crops is the present-day development of weed control. A pioneer in this field, and proud of it, is the National Grain Company Limited, which through its Agricultural Department, working with Governments and Universities, has carried on innumerable tests of chemicals, their methods of application, their effects upon weeds and crops.

In a recent issue of Life Magazine (August 30th, 1948), a full page illustration in color pictures a remarkable demonstration of the effectiveness of chemical weed control by spraying growing crops with 2,4-D in Minnesota and the Dakotas. The National Grain Co. Ltd. has carried out in Canada the identical program of chemical weed control that Life Magazine has so well recognized in the United States. The same chemicals and methods were used in both programs.

Crop yields have been materially increased through this method of chemical weed control, but much work remains to be done in the field of research and field testing of equipment, before the planners of today can rest from their labors to improve the crop of tomorrow. The Agricultural Department of National Grain will continue its activities in every development phase of chemical weed control.

GILES

With the return of some good harvest weather threatening outfit began humming in the district again this week and are slowly moving toward a general windup.

The second meeting of the Red Cross was held in the school last Friday afternoon. The members voted on a name for their club branch and as a result the club will be known as the School Hill J.R.C. Meetings will be held in the school every second Friday. Another matter discussed at the meeting was the hot lunch system of school lunches. It was decided to continue this good work again this year. A meeting of the parents will be called later in the season to discuss this.

A nature hike to the river headed the list of events at the school last week. The pupils returned from their "mile and a half" hike loaded down with clams, petrified wood and arrow heads, feeling more than a little tired and hungry.

Mr. Mac Clarke was a supper visitor at the Shadbolt home one night recently.

Mrs. Wilkins returned to Wainwright last week after spending a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Steve Shaban.

Do not become alarmed if you chance to see a dark streak headed over the hills toward Giles School. It is likely just Iris Waddell showing off her new birthday present.

Iris and Howard Waddell and George Ferguson were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Shaban last night.

Speaking of Howard, we hear he has been making a number of trips to Wainwright lately. We wonder what the attraction is.

Jack Lawton arrived home early on Sunday morning from what we hear was a business trip.

Mr. H. Pugh brought the school typewriter out from the divisional office recently and all those speed articles at Giles are out to break all records. From what we hear it would appear that they are making a good stab at it at the school.

We would like to suggest to you Giles folk that if you have any news items you phone them in to your scribe, preferably on Thursday or Friday evening. Remember it is up to us to let people know that we DO NOT live at the north pole but rather in that fair little valley across the river from Paradise.

WANT HOLIDAYS CHANGED
Circulating among Canadian trade associations is a resolution calling upon the Dominion government to have all national holidays celebrated on a Monday. The present hit-or-miss system when Empire Day or Dominion Day may come in the middle of the week has really nothing to commend it.

REPLANTING NEEDED
For a hundred years, the maple trees have been destroyed by fire, or cut with reckless abandon for fuel or lumber. If a large-scale replanting of maples was undertaken, it would repay the effort in soil and water conservation and general farm prosperity.
—Granby (Que.) Leader-Mail

CLEANING UP THE GARDEN
A few short weeks ago gardeners were anxiously watching the rows for tiny shoots, wondering when the first vegetable would be ready for use. Now there is a rush to use or store away the abundance of food before the frost nips the plants.

Harvest season is always a time of thanksgiving but unfortunately it places a heavy burden on the busy homemaker. The home economist of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture has many recipes for relishes that are delicious and have the added advantage of being quickly made. Here are several good ones.

Raw Curry Relish
3 cups chopped carrots (8 large)
2 cups chopped sweet red peppers (6 medium)
2 cups chopped green peppers (4 medium)
4 cups chopped cabbage (1 small head)
2 cups chopped onion
1 cup sugar
4 cups cider or blended vinegar
2 tablespoons salt
2 tablespoons mustard seed
2 tablespoons celery seed
Mix all vegetables. Combine sugar, vinegar, salt, mustard seed and celery seed and bring to boiling point. Pack vegetables into sterilized jars, pour boiling vinegar mixture over vegetables to cover. Seal and store in a cool, dry place. Yield: 6 pints.

Pepper Relish
3 1/2 lb. (16-18) sweet red peppers
3 lb. (12-15) green peppers
3 lb. (12-15) medium onions
4 cups vinegar
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon mustard seed
1 tablespoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon celery seed
2 tablespoons salt
Wash peppers, remove seed cores. Peel onions. Put vegetables through food chopper, using coarse blade. Place in large preserving bottle, cover with boiling water and let stand 5 minutes. Drain thoroughly. Add vinegar, sugar, spices and salt; cook until vegetables are tender—about 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour into hot sterilized jars. Cool and seal. Yield: about 6 pints.

Sweet Cucumber Relish
3 large cucumbers (ripe or green)
3 medium onions
6 stalks celery
1 green pepper
3 tablespoons salt
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon mustard
3 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon turmeric
1/4 teaspoon curry powder
1/4 cup cold water
1 cup vinegar
Peel cucumber and remove seeds. Peel onions. Remove seeds from pepper. Put cucumbers, onions, celery and pepper through food chopper, using coarse blade. Sprinkle with salt and let stand 1 hour. Drain thoroughly. Bring drained vegetables to boil. Mix sugar, mustard, flour, turmeric and curry powder with cold water, add vinegar. Mix well with hot vegetables. Cook 10 minutes, stirring often. Bottle while hot. Yield: 2 pints.

PICKLES TO PICKLE
THE PALATE
Tasty relishes, sauces, and pickles—here are a few suggestions from Miss Doris Eiford of the Home Economics Division, Alberta Department of Agriculture, that will help to add zip and interest to that long succession of winter meals.

When making your pickles and relishes, use porcelain-lined, granite ware, aluminum, or stainless steel kettles. Use a granite or wooden spoon for stirring. Do not use iron, copper or brass utensils.

Some vegetables such as cucumbers should be soaked in salt water for a few hours or overnight. Use one cup of salt to 2 quarts (10 cups) of boiling water. The salt draws the water from the tissues and makes them crisp, firm, and ready to absorb the pickling solution.

Use common table or dairy salt. Free running salt, because of a special treatment, causes cloudy brine. Iodized salt may cause a brownish scum or sediment so is not recommended.

Too much salt toughens and shrivels vegetables, while too little salt causes soft and slippery pickles.

board on top of the pickles and weigh it down with a clean stone or other weight. You will get best results if pickles are sealed in glass jars, sealers, or crocks.

Home Appliances Will Show Trend To Simple Lines

New York—Babes in arms are helping to design the washing machine, vacuum cleaners and electric refrigerators you'll be using tomorrow.

The industrial designers who decide what the automobiles, stores, toothpaste tubes and thousands of other products will look like when they come off assembly lines agree almost to a man that things will be simpler hereafter.

The reason, they say, is the high birth rate. Consumers are favoring simple products least likely to involve small children in accidents.

A survey discloses that the day of gewgaws and gadgets is over and that the trim, clean line is the coming motif. This trend also is being spurred by costs, since it's cheaper to make things without fancy ornamentation. Another is the movement to "utilize," emphasizing the final use to which the product will be put.

It's no fancy dream world the designers are working on now, nor anything so far as can be learned—that is going to revolutionize the way you'll live. But a lot of things are on the way which will help make for more comfort. Here are some of the new "simplified" and "utilitarian" things, for example, that have just come from designers' drawing boards:

A new vacuum cleaner, which may be stored and carried vertically and has a new type of dust ejector which simplifies the problem of cleaning the container. No stooping is required to attach or detach the hose.

Few Protrusions
A floor waxer with a minimum number of protrusions, slots or compound curves but with two removable caps at the top to enable it to be serviced without being turned over.

A refrigerator with clean, flowing lines and a "molded look." Horizontal indentations are eliminated, making it easier to keep the surface clean. Rearrangement of the motor and compressor increases storage space 30 per cent without increasing the exterior dimension.

Small lightweight plastic bearing a'da, designed to reduce surface friction and blend with any type of clothing.

An electric range with the timer panel isolated from the switch controls, and with the operation amplified so that the non-technical housewife can understand and use the timer more readily.

Along with the general trend to simplicity, industrial designer J. McLeod Little of Toledo, O., says there's also a trend to "family unity" in appliances, where all products in a line feature the same basic design. Thus, the same company's refrigerator, washing machine and other kitchen equipment would all carry the same harmonious lines.

Despite the move to simplicity, however, designers say there will be a trend to "utilitarianism" in appliances, where all products in a line feature the same basic design. Thus, the same company's refrigerator, washing machine and other kitchen equipment would all carry the same harmonious lines.

some exceptions where flashier products will make more sales. Wilbur Henry Adams, one of the pioneers in the field, says he once redesigned a well-known brand of refrigerator. "It was the most practical, dignified job I'd ever done," he says. "But the vice-president in charge of sales demanded more chrome, more trim, declaring the refrigerator had to be janned up for the market. He was right. We janned it up and it sold like hotcakes."

Peaches Small But Plentiful

Despite the fact there's been no rainfall worthy of mention in the Niagara fruit belt since early July, estimates are that a 1,155,000 bu. peach crop will be harvested, and pack may be about 25% over that of last year, according to Canadian Growers. Fruit will be smaller because of premature ripening brought on by extreme heat.

"Price to the jobbing trade will be about the same as last year's openings, around $2.25 doz. for 20-cs. size," the grocery business paper states. "Some grocers" lately have been around $2.50 less 5% for delivery when packed, or about $2.18 1/2. Quality of fruit is reported good, with some brown rot evident and a little oriental peach moth injury, but not as serious as in past years."

Time Out For Laughs

Mrs. Hollister and Mrs. Dunn hadn't seen each other for several months. "I understand," said Mrs. Dunn "that both your son and daughter got married. Congratulations!"

"Thank you very much," said Mrs. Hollister.

"And your daughter? How is she getting along?" "Excellent," replied Mrs. Hollister, beaming. "She has a fine, thoughtful husband. She has breakfast in bed every morning, doesn't have to lift a finger. Every day, during the early part of the afternoon she goes shopping and later in the afternoon she plays bridge. She's a regular lady!"

"And your son?" continued Mrs. Dunn.

Mrs. Hollister sighed. "Ah, my son, poor boy. I'm afraid he didn't do so well. His wife is so lazy. Why she stays in bed every day until ten o'clock and never does any work around the house. Spends all afternoon playing cards. Yes, Mrs. Dunn, she's a regular no account!"

On motion Council was regularly adjourned

Leo Durocher ought to be a lot more popular in New York these days than he was when he managed Brooklyn Dodgers or in the days shortly after he took over the reins of the New York Giants in one of the most surprising deals in baseball history.

To Brooklynites, New York is just a "snob." Consequently, when their National League baseball teams clash the fans display a heart felt animosity for each other.

During this season New York Giants have won 11 games from the "Bums" and dropped 10, but Durocher's record as manager in this bitter rivalry is 15 victories to six losses.

When "Lippy Leo" managed the Dodgers he seemed to hold a jinx over the Giants. During the first half of the season, when he managed the Dodgers, the Brooklyn club defeated Giants eight out of 12 times. This, combined with other incidents, didn't endear "The Lip" with New York fans.

But, Durocher, managing Giants, seems to hold a whammy over his old club. In fact under his tutelage Giants have beaten Dodgers seven times in nine games. On top of this, his teams just about completed the job of slanting the Brooklyn flag hopes on Sept. 11 and 12 when Giants whipped their rivals three out of four.

Mustn't Be The Bums

New Yorkers aren't too put out about losing a pennant, providing they don't have to read about the "Bums" winning it.

Durocher drives himself and his team hard, but it is doubtful if he ever contemplated mass surgery on his battery of pitchers as fire-eating John McGraw once did when he coached the Giants. Here is the story of that incident.

One of baseball's famous pitchers was three-fingered Mordecai Brown. Strangely, it was the amputation of Brown's forefinger that made him such an effective hurler, as the short nub of his finger gave him additional friction that aided him in throwing his baffling curve ball.

One afternoon, Brown, pitching for the Chicago Cubs, came up again at McGraw's New York Giants. As fast as McGraw's hitters walked to the plate, Brown sent them stamping back to the dugout.

McGraw became infuriated, pointed to the pitching mound and yelled to his players, "Look at him out there. Only three fingers and he's making you guys look sick."

After a pause, he added: "You know, if I thought it would help you guys like it has Brown, I'd personally amputate the index finger of every pitcher on this club."

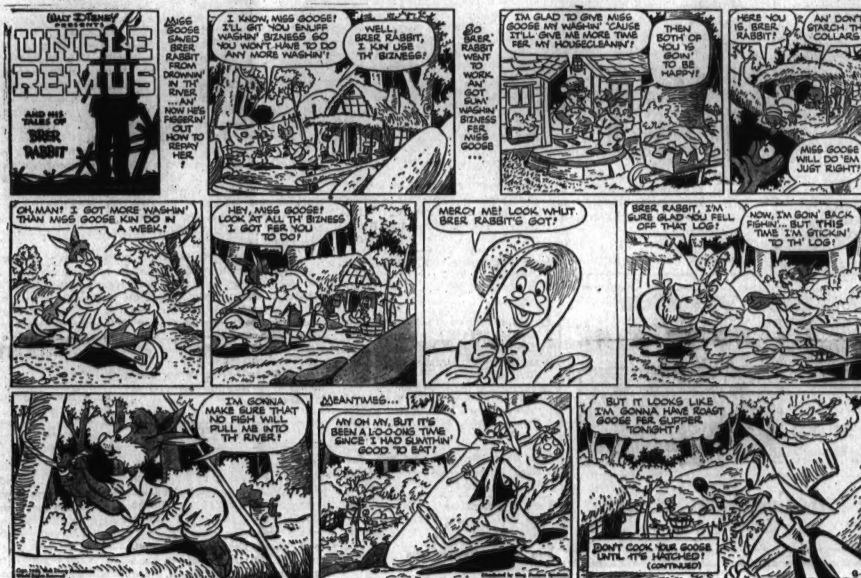

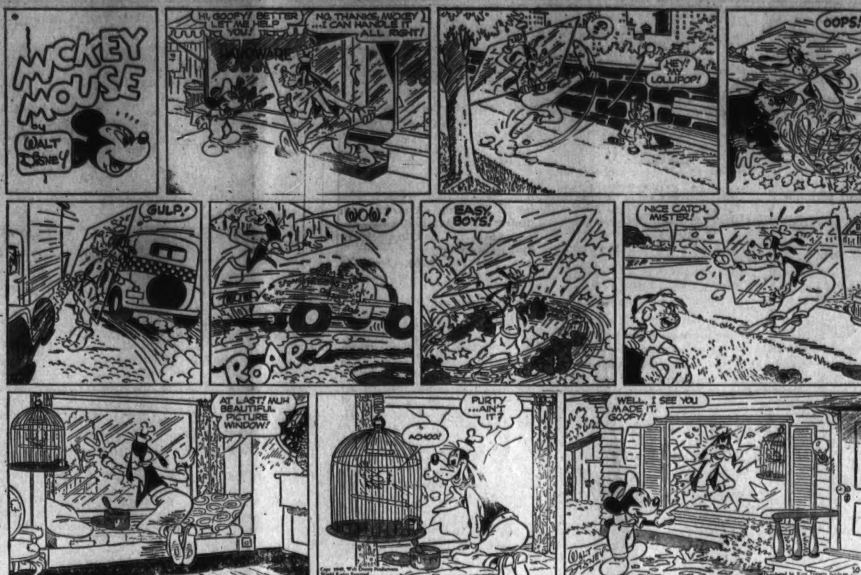

Fear Nut-In-Shell Shortage

So far there's nothing encouraging in sight as to imports of nuts in the shell for Christmas, says Canadian Grocer.

"Apart from peanuts, they were on Mr. Abbott's banned list of last November," states the grocery business paper. "Representations have been made to Ottawa to put them on a quota basis, and if the Government does relax its restrictions this might happen any time. Otherwise we are going to be short of nuts in the shell during coming months."

Some wholesalers may have a few walnuts and almonds in the shell left over from last year—more almonds, perhaps, than walnuts. Some retailers, too, have a few left. Providing they have been kept in proper storage, they may be used as displays for pre-Christmas trade. Canada will, of course, have plenty of various shelled nuts.

The New Look is like prohibition—the same old joints, but harder to find.

GENERAL CEREAL VISITS BELGIUM

Following his participation as one of the special Canadian Mission at the coronation of Queen Juliana in Holland, General Cerear, wartime commander of the Canadian Army, is making a tour through the battlefields where the Canadians made history in their historic march from Normandy to Germany. On his tour the General is visiting the Canadian cemeteries where so many of his former command have found their final resting place.

Accompanied by his wife and his aide Maj. H. Teller, DSO, Gen. Cerear arrived at the Canadian Embassy in Brussels last week where he was greeted by His Excellency Hon. Victor Dore, Canadian Ambassador to Belgium. In an interview General Cerear expressed his appreciation of the warm welcome extended to him everywhere he has been on his trip. He mentioned especially the great reception accorded the Canadian flag when it was paraded at one of the monster demonstrations in Holland during the Coronation festivities.

On his arrival in Brussels the General laid a wreath at the unknown soldier's tomb and met representatives of the Belgian Army and government at a dinner held in his honour. He also visited the Canadian cemetery at Adgem and went on to Ypres where he paid his respects at the memorials at St. Julian, Passchendaele and the Menin Gate. Following his trip through Belgium, General Cerear will visit the Canadian Ambassador to France in Paris and then visit the Normandy Area where his troops saw such bitter fighting in 1944.

During his stay in Brussels General Cerear laid a wreath at the tomb of the unknown soldier in the heart of the city. He is shown above saluting at the tomb with his aide Maj. H. Teller, DSO, of Ottawa and representatives of the Belgian Army in the background.
